Medusa Park And Safety Trophy Dedicated

TUESDAY IS RED LETTER DAY IN PLANT HISTORY

Supt. W. E. Wuerth and Employees Given Merited Praise

The dedication of the safety trophy at the new Medusa Park yesterday afternoon marked a chapter in the history of the local cement industry and was attended by a large gathering of notables of the company, representatives of other cement manufacturers, all of the department heads and employees of the Medusa company and many citizens from Dixon. There was nothing to mar the fine program arranged and while for a few minutes a slight rain fell, the program was carried out without change.

The visitors, heads of the departments of the local mills and employees headed by the Dixon Boys' band formed a parade which started from the office building at 1:30 and marched to the beautiful Medusa park, which has been built this spring. Here a platform for the band and a covered stand for the visitors and speakers had been provided. A loud speaker system, installed by Chester Barriage, carried the interesting talks to all parts of the park, which had been provided with comfortable seats.

William L. White, Jr., of Cleveland, Ohio, general superintendent of the Medusa Company, officiated as chairman of the program. He spoke briefly, after the program had been fittingly opened with prayer by Rev. A. B. Whitcomb of this city, of the purpose of the gathering. He explained that the event marked the campaign carried on throughout the country against industrial accidents and the no-loss time accident campaign of the Medusa Company. The safety trophy, he stated, was a symbol of safety and not a memorial. The last loss-time accident in the Dixon mill, he said, occurred November 24, 1929. In concluding his talk he introduced A. J. R. Curtis of Chicago, assistant to the general manager of the Portland Cement Association, who in part said:

Marks Great Effort
"This event marks the greatest cooperative effort in which the Dixon plant of the Medusa Company ever has engaged. At this time I wish to congratulate the officers, department heads and employees of the Dixon mill. There are 40,000 men engaged in the cement mill industry in the United States and the average accident list is very small due to an education campaign against no-loss time accidents. This is a wonderful accomplishment of which you may well feel proud.

"The city of Dixon and community is to be congratulated upon having in its midst an industry such as this, which has gained national distinction by bringing to this mill this fine safety trophy. Every employee has cooperated in an effort to make a success of this campaign and their efforts have been rewarded by winning this coveted recognition. The work has barely begun and it is now the duty of these same employees to continue their efforts along the same line and in additional laurels.

"I wish to take this opportunity of speaking of President J. B. John, of the Medusa Company, who has shown great interest in the cement industry in the carrying out of this great work and in the accident prevention campaigns. He has been tireless in his efforts to eliminate accidents from the cement mills of the country and is giving freely of his time to make possible these fine trophy dedications.

Praised Supt. Wuerth
"The splendid supervision of the Dixon mill by Superintendent Wuerth, who is one of the leading mill heads in the cement industry of the country, in a large way is responsible for this honor. There is also a fine spirit of cooperation in all of the departments of the plant in which every individual employee has participated and this has been brought about through the splendid supervision. This trophy is a product of the Medusa Company, made of its cement and granite. It is a sign of achievement and not one of bereavement. May it remain ever as a splendid inspiration."

At this point of the program the Misses Nancy Sibley and Barbara Hoon, daughters of Herbert W. (Continued on Page 9)

Supt. Wuerth Is Praised For His Successful Work

W. E. WUERTH

Head of the Dixon plant of the Medusa Cement Co., whose supervision of the big institution is credited with much of the success in its no-loss time accident campaign in 1930, which resulted in a perfect record, commemorated yesterday in the dedication of the beautiful new Medusa Park near the plant, and the safety trophy, pictured in an adjacent column, presented by the Portland Cement Association.

Concerning Mr. Wuerth the "Medusa Mirror" of April, trade publication, said under the caption, "Real Hero Of The Cimmerian."

Hollywood may have its make-believe heroes of the Cimmerian, but Medusa has the genuine pure quill in the person of Pop Wuerth, superintendent of the Dixon plant, who, with his brother, was in the mad scramble into the Cherokee Strip in 1889.

He tied the mark with thousands of others at Fort Smith, and when the soldiers fired the starting gun at noon on that eventful day in '89, Pop, having pulled his belt up a couple of notches, split the air for north central Oklahoma and filed on a section of land which he later gave up, and secured two lots in what is now Guthrie.

When he hit the place the population was three persons, Pop being the third, but by night it had grown to 15,000. He neglected to state whether he rode on a wagon, buggy, horse, bicycle, roller skates or hooped it, but that does not matter much. We do claim that a man who came third and beat 14,997 others to the tape was going some, regardless of transportation methods.

The next thing to do, Pop said, was to land a job; and having a kit of carpenter's tools back home he hired out for two and a half dollars a day, and sent for the tools, but when they arrived the contractor had cut the wages to a dollar and a half, and said he could get plenty of men at that price, so Pop promptly consigned the contractor and all his relatives to a much warmer climate than Oklahoma and took the back track to civilization.

We imagine he felt like the man we heard about who went down there, maybe it was Pop—who knows, who said, "If I owned hell and Oklahoma, I'd rent Oklahoma out and live in hell." In any event, Oklahoma's loss was Illinois' gain and we wouldn't swap our Pop for the governor of Oklahoma with a couple of congressmen thrown in.

BISHOP SUES FOR HALF MILLION IN DAMAGE PETITION

Churchman Charges Representative Tinkham With Libel

Washington, June 3.—(UP)—Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, today filed in the District of Columbia Supreme Court, a libel suit for $500,000 damages against Representative Tinkham, Republican, Massachusetts.

Cannon's petition alleges Tinkham libeled him in a signed statement printed in newspapers throughout the country. The Bishop seeks $250,000 punitive damages and the remainder as compensations for injuries suffered from the alleged libel.

Rich, bewhiskered, a big game hunter, Tinkham since the 1928 presidential campaign has been in the forefront of the congressional fight against the Bishop. At most of Cannon's appearances before Senate investigating committees, Tinkham has appeared to observe the strategy of his adversary.

Tinkham assailed Cannon bitterly on the floor of the House during the last session of Congress. The suit filed today is based on a repetition of Tinkham's remarks made by the Representative outside the House and without the immunity which attaches to utterances on the floor.

Cannon had challenged Tinkham to repeat his charges under those circumstances.

Repeated Charges

On June 20, 1930, Tinkham obliged Cannon with a statement published over his signature. It read in part as follows:

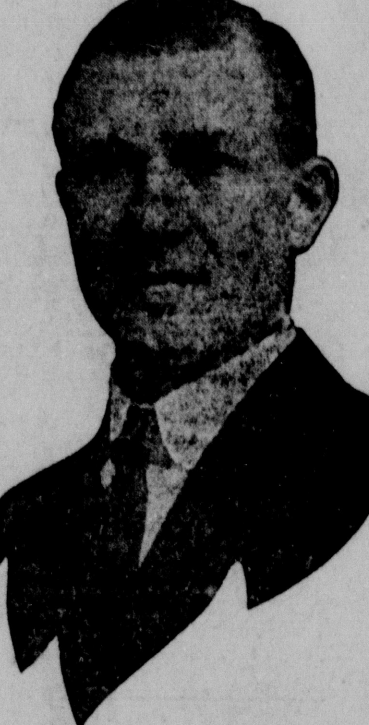

"Lest Bishop Cannon shall delude anyone into thinking the charges which I made against him in the House of Representatives were unfounded and meeting his challenge that I divest myself of my congressional immunity, I desire to restate over my signature the charges I made in the House of Representatives that he is a shameless violator of the federal corrupt practices act, a criminal statute; that he received $63,300 from a New York capitalist, Mr. Jameson, during the 1923 elections, and illegally concealed the receipt of all this money until February 15, 1929, and has not yet accounted for $48,300 of this amount; refusing to do so before the Senate lobby investigating committee, before which he appeared voluntarily and where he was under oath and could have been cross examined."

Under authority of a resolution introduced by Senate Glass, Dem., Va., and adopted by the Senate last winter, the Nye campaign funds committee investigated disposition of the money received by Cannon from Jameson. Last month Cannon appeared before the committee with his secretary and after reading a statement challenging the committee's jurisdiction, refused to answer questions. Cannon had previously issued a statement denying the committee's right to investigate the Jameson fund.

FARRELL AMONG THREE LEADERS IN GOLF MATCH

Other Americans Make Good Showing Today In British Play

By VIRGIL PINKLEY

United Press Staff Correspondent.
Carnoustie, Scotland, June 3.—(UP)—Johnny Farrell of New York and two English pros, Henry Cotton and W. T. Twine, shared leadership in the British open golf tournament today with the first of the four championship rounds completed.

Farrell, Cotton and Twine had 72's. Farrell made his par by an excellently played outward nine and relatively poorly handled inward play. He was out in 33, three under par, and home in 39, three above. The others had 36 for each nine.

In the next division was Tommy Armour of Detroit with a 73. He made a 38 going out, but came home in 35, one under par.

Gene Sarazen of New York saw his name written in the third division. His 74 left him in a tie with five other pros. They were followed by MacDonald Smith and Joe Kirkwood, both of New York, who had 75's and were tied with five other players.

All of the others of the nine United States pros who qualified for the championship proper, excepting Tony Manero of New York, came through the first title test safely enough. Willie Hunter of Los Angeles had a 76 Horton Smith and Joe Turnesa, both of New York, had 77's. Manero scored an 82, having counted 44 on his incoming nine.

Most of the British professional stars lived up to expectations. Fine rounds were scored by A. J. Lacey, W. Large and W. Oke, who had 74's to be tied with Sarazen. Percy Allis of Berlin and M. Dal'ernage of L. Germain, France, were the others to have scored 74's.

STATE INCOME TAX DEFEATED BY CLOSE VOTE

Measure, Supported By 35th. Dist. Members, Lost By 2 Votes

Springfield, Ill., June 3.—(AP)—Parliamentary maneuvering today clinched the vote by which the Illinois House of Representatives failed to pass a state income tax bill.

Lacking two votes of the 77 necessary to pass the bill he had fought for as a farm relief measure, Homer J. Tice, administration leader and chairman of the Appropriations committee, changed his vote and moved for reconsideration, only to have one Chicagoan demand that reconsideration at once, and another move to lay the motion on the table.

Defeat was thus administered by the same vote by which the bill had failed of passage.

Sol. P. Roderick, Republican, Chicago, moved for immediate reconsideration, and Elmer J. Schnackenberg, Republican, Chicago, immediately moved that Roderick's motion be tabled. It was all according to Roberts' rules of order and defeat was written down by the clerk, and the roll call recorded, the result of another Chicago and downstate fight.

Four Democrats, three of them of Chicago, failed to vote on the bill. They were Griffin, Keane and O'Grady of Chicago, and H. D. Sullivan of Quincy.

STATE POLICE ATTACKED.

Springfield, Ill., June 3.—(UP)—Establishment of the Illinois State Highway Police as a state constabulary was well on its way to becoming an accomplished fact today following action in the Illinois state legislature yesterday when the House of Representatives advanced to passage stage a bill increasing the force and giving its members full police powers.

The bill was advanced after a warm debate in which Representative R. G. Soderstrom, Republican, Streator, and President of the Illinois State Federation of Labor, and Michael L. Igoo, Democrat, Chicago, vigorously attacked the proposal as an attempt to set up a state police system.

Democrats charged the state administration with attempting to set up a political machine and denounced the recent spectacular raid of a gangsters' hideout in East St. Louis in which six alleged desperadoes were captured and transported to Sterling with sixty policemen acting as guards, as a hoax.

"Publicity Stunt"

Igoo said the transporting of them over the state highways was "a disgrace" and inferred that it might have been a publicity stunt by declaring that it occurred at a time when Governor L. L. Emmerson was making a speech against crime at Sterling.

Under the bill as advanced by the House the highway force would be increased from its present membership of 1,000 to 2,000.

ORDERS MAYOR TO LOOK INTO LEGAL STATUS

Passes Ordinance Providing Stop and Go Signs Be Lighted

The first step by the city council to purchase the Dixon Water Company, was taken at last evening's regular session when Commissioner Brooks of the Department of Public Health and Safety, presented the following resolution and moved its adoption:

Whereas, many citizens of Dixon believe unreasonable rates are charged for private and public water service in this city and,

Whereas the laws of this state authorize municipal ownership and operation of waterworks, and the franchise of the Dixon Water Company with the city of Dixon, which will expire in 1933, also provides that the city may purchase the property of said company by paying the "fair, reasonable, market value of said property", and it further provides for the appointment of a board of appraisers of said property, and

Whereas, in the assignment of duties to the several members of this Council, the Mayor has been given charge of matters relating to public utilities, therefore,

Be it resolved by the Council of the City of Dixon, that the Mayor is hereby requested to investigate the question of the right of the city of Dixon to purchase and operate the property of the Dixon Water Company and the necessary legal proceedings to be taken on behalf of the city to bring about such action, and to report to the council at the earliest convenient date his recommendations of the course of procedure to be followed in order to have the subject fully and properly submitted to the council for its consideration."

Commissioner Brooks stated that he believed that the time had come when the council should take some constructive action instead of investigations and referred to the Oakwood cemetery investigation, which he stated, "is a closed book insofar as I am concerned at this time."

"Several companies are ready to take over the financing of the purchase of the water company without a dollar's worth of expense to the city," the Commissioner stated. "I have made a close study of the situation and believe that the city can retire approximately $45,000 each year of the indebtedness. The purchase can be made with no additional cost to the consumer. The large amount paid by the city for fire protection, sums paid for taxes and dividends can be saved through municipal ownership. This is the first of a series of constructive steps to be taken by this council, some of which are to be launched within a very short time and I am in favor of the report of the Mayor being submitted at the next meeting if he can complete his investigations and report at that time."

The resolution was adopted by the unanimous vote of the council.

Band Dixon Named

Mayor Dixon appointed the members of the municipal band commission, which were confirmed by the council, as follows: I. M. Goodwin, James Palmer, Mrs. Hazel Thompson, Harry W. Hogan and William G. Ford.

An ordinance was passed by the council regulating the duties of the members of the fire department. This ordinance requires that the firemen perform the janitor services at the city hall, scrubbing the floors, caring for the building throughout, decorating the building, answer telephone calls in the police department and assist the police when necessary, that one member be assigned by the Chief of the Fire Department as Desk Sergeant in the police department. The added duties are to be performed without additional compensation the ordinance provides which became effective upon its passage.

A communication from City Attorney Cannon was read, referring to the vacation of a section of Inlet avenue by the city, which recommended that no action be taken by the council until a further investigation to reach an agreement with property owners relating to the maintenance of a storm sewer.

THE PARLEY
TODAY I heard a parley of the crows
At the wood edge, and one austere old fellow,
In tones half raucous and mien half mellow,
Declined about the onset of the snow
"They'll soon be here and add unto our woes," Declared he, "for the blue birds and the yellow
Have fled where the white tempests do not follow,
But the palm waves and the hibiscus blows."

Let us take wing and follow!" Cried another,
As part as Puck, as gay as Punchinello;
"We cannot change our coats, dear elder brother,
Nor make our voices like the violin-cello;
A crow's a crow—of that there is no doubt;
Why should we not be game—and stick it out?"
—Clinton Scollard, Poems.

Fur Fashions for Coming Year Will Be Most Fascinating

By JANE EADS
New York, June 3—(AP)—A new process for treating sealskin which leaves the fur as soft and supple as a fabric, combined with this season's artful fashioning, has made the sealskin today something more than just a practical, warm wrap, "good for several seasons."

This year fur coats will adapt themselves to the trend of the mode in the exact manner of the cloth coat. They will be draped. They will hang with subtle fullness. They will give as slenderizing an effect as a sheer cloth coat conforming easily to the details that definitely influence the fall silhouette.

They will come in three lengths. Evening and formal afternoon coats reach to three inches above the ordinary hem-line. The three-quarter length coat is popular for sports street, and formal dinner wear. The short coat is worn for sports but certain adaptations of it are particularly smart for evening.

Logwood brown is the popular color, while black is very good for formal wear and for the street. White moire lamb, ermin, Russian sable blue fox, silver fox, and sable-dyed Kolinsky are used for contrast in the shawl, scarf and cowl collars, huge cuffs and often muffs.

H. S. Graduates Affiliated With Christian Church are Banqueted

The teachers and officers of the Christian church Sunday school who have formed a workers conference, gave their annual banquet to the high school graduates who are affiliated with the Christian church on Monday evening. This year these young people numbered fourteen.

The new minister of the Christian church, the Reverend J. A. Barnett, and family, were guests, also.

The decorations for the enjoyable affair were in the high school colors, purple and white, with the large letter, D H S, hanging above the graduates' table. The banquet was preceded by half an hour of fine music by the Sunday school orchestra, under the direction of Miss Gertrude Nesbit.

The program was as follows:

Address of welcome to the graduates by Supt. James Leach.

Response, representing the graduates, by Kenneth Abbott.

"How the Church and Sunday School Has Helped Me as a Student", by Pauline Planingam.

Vocal Duet, by Martha Jane Bradford and Elwood Rickard.

Followed by a piano solo by Miss Bradford as an encore.

The real treat of the evening developed in the fine address by Prof. B. J. Frazer of the high school faculty, who is a very able speaker and who thoroughly understands the problems confronting young students about to step from high school into college life, business life, or wherever duty may call them; and he also thoroughly understands the young students themselves. His talk was highly appreciated.

The Children's Bureau sends out a small dodger entitled "Is Your Child's Birth Recorded?" that points out to parents seven reasons why this should be done.

"It is important," states the little pamphlet, "in order to prove his age and citizenship; to prove his legal right to an inheritance; to prove his right to marry; to prove his right to hold office; to prove his right to secure passports for foreign travel."

The birth registration area comprises 34 states and includes about three-fourths of the population of the United States. That leaves 14 states not accounted for in this important matter.

This does not mean that there is no registration in those states, but merely that it is not required by law.

The Bureau urges all citizens to help their own particular state board of health to put their state on the list of compulsory registration.

Mrs. Augusta Robbins Is Eighty Years Old

Mrs. Augusta Robbins, mother of Mrs. Webster Poole, was eighty years old yesterday and many friends called on her during the day at the Poole home, to wish her happiness. One friend who called on her, Mrs. E. Howell, who makes her home with Mrs. Ed Franks for part of the year, is eighty-six years old. Light refreshments were served and there was a tempting birthday cake. Mrs. Robbins received a number of nice gifts, cards and flowers.

Miss Maurine Doeden To Wed Jos. Horton

From Oregon comes word of an approaching wedding, news of which was shared with a group of the bride-elect's friends Friday evening when Miss Frances Doeden entertained twelve guests at an announcement dinner in compliment to her sister, Miss Maurine Doeden.

The bride-elect, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Doeden of Oregon, has chosen Saturday, June 20, as the date of her wedding to Joseph Horton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Horton of Mount Morris. It will be a home ceremony.

Miss Doeden has been employed in formation as to how this birth may be registered.

Unofficially please let me say that our courts are full of legal mix-ups about this very matter, for time was not so long ago, that nobody bothered with such things at all. A baby was a baby, and if the time ever came that it was necessary to prove his identity, that he was born where he was, and when he was, some o'd neighbor or relative could always be dug up to swear to it.

Now things are no longer so slipshod and haphazard. We often roam far in these days from the a good many of us have not need-town and state of our birth. True, ed to prove our right to inherit big estates, or to travel in foreign lands and wrestle with passports, or even to run for public office, but many a distracted soul has been sorely put to it to prove that he was worthy of his rights as a citizen in very grave matters indeed.

Besides, who knows what the future may bring? The world changes. We know not what is ahead. I would see that my baby had his name in a great big book somewhere—now.

GENEROSITY IN DOLLARS.

When a generous gesture is made with dollars, instead of words, it deserves to be listed with noble impulses. There are entirely too many cases of sticky sentimentalism for which laurel wreaths are plaited and press notices are given. But when you get a green-back version of unselfishness it is fairly reliable.

Last year a bank in Vineland, N. J., failed. School children lost $37,000. The money which they had earned in mowing lawns and shoveling snow and wiping dishes vanished. The round silver dollars that were special birthday gifts, and the quarters that had been saved when they wanted to see a movie and didn't were completely gone.

Colonel Evan O. Kimble, the head of another financial institution in the same city, knew what the reaction of those youngsters would be. They would decide that you couldn't trust savings accounts. They would buy caramels and gumdrops and go to movies and ball games whenever they had any money. They would come to the decision that the wisest thing to do is to spend your money before something happens to it.

Colonel Kimble realized that boys and girls who held this attitude couldn't train for the best citizenship. Therefore from the coffers of his own bank, he dragged out the money bags and restored to each child the sum that he had lost.

Certainly the children who had preferred another bank to his didn't expect such largesse. But they are going to remember it. They are going to realize that fair play and generosity still make up a big part in life, or else a benefactor would not have made such a gift.

There are those who will say that the bank acted as a benefactor because it is counting on the profits which will accrue from the new accounts that will be opened. But such accounts will be small, at best. It will be a long time until the boys and girls will be making noticeable sums of money. The money which the bank could have loaned would have done more for it financially than the new accounts can do.

Colonel Kimble is representative of the type of business men who are putting a conscience in their work. He realized that it is just as important to teach future citizens that the financial backing with which they deal is secure as it is to encourage them to send their coin to India's starving millions.

Colonel Kimble made a solid contribution to citizenship. He deserves to be mentioned.

BACKYARD GARDENS.

The backyard or vacant lot truck garden is going to be an important method of relieving the wants of the unemployed this summer. Fred C. Croxton, vice chairman of the president's Emergency Committee for Employment, points out that there has been a huge increase in vegetable gardens in the United States this summer, and says that many part-time or laid-off workers will use them to provide themselves with food.

A number of business concerns which own idle land, such as railroad and mining companies, have encouraged workers whom they have had to lay off to raise vegetables on tracts of company land. In many cities relief committees and civic organizations have taken up the work. And, of course, the jobless man who has a backyard of his own is turning truckgardener without any prompting.

All of this will not, of course, replace organized relief distribution. But it will help the situation very materially.

THE TINYMITES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

"That looks just like a mandolin," said we Clowzy. "Won't you please begin another little bit of music? We all think it is mighty sweet. If you would like, we will dance for you. That is one thing that all we can do. The Travel Man can watch and listen. That will be a treat."

The Japanese girl smiled a bit and said, "Well, I'm feeling fit to play a lot of music." Then she sat down on the ground. And as the strains rang clear and true, the rest of the kind girl knew, the Tinymites all joined their hands and started dancing around.

"Well, this is really quite a lovely show," the Travel Man exclaimed. "You know that I am fond of music and I like nice dancing too. Just keep it up and I will clap loud. I know that that will make you very proud. And then I'll buy a dandy meal for you."

In half an hour they grew tired out. Then Scouty jumped, to loudly shout, "Come on, let's go and have that meal. I'm hungry as a bear." The Jap girl thanked all, but said, "I must go to my home, instead. I am sure that one of you wee lads can easily eat my share."

And so they left the maid behind. It didn't take them long to find a nice, clean-looking eating place. The whole bunch ate with zest. Then Coppy said, "Gee, That was good, and I ate every bit I could, I think of all the meals we have had, that really was the best."

A short time later, as they were walking around the streets and were gaily talking, they came upon another maid who worked around a fire. "Why look," cried one, "She is cooking fish. That's new to me and I just wish that we could watch a little while flames shoot higher and higher."

(The Tinymites meet a little Japanese baby in the next story.)

BELGIAN LABOR NOTE

On June 3, 1917, an official memorandum presented to the United States government by M. de Cartier, the Belgian Minister at Washington, was made public. It summarized the facts of German rule in Belgium and explained the enforced idleness of Belgian workmen.

The memorandum said in part: "The depressed condition of the Belgian industry is not a case of accident caused by the force of extraneous circumstances unconnected with the action of the German authorities; these authorities are, on the contrary, personally responsible."

"Since the occupation of Belgium the German authorities... have put into effect the plan worked out in August, 1914, at Berlin, by Dr. W. Rathenau, for the systematic exploitation of all the economic resources of occupied countries to the profit of the war organization of the empire."

Three Suspected Of Many Jewel Thefts

Chicago, June 2—(UP)—Three men suspected of having obtained hundreds of thousands of dollars in jewelry by robbing apartments in Chicago's most exclusive residential districts were held today for possible identification.

Chief of Detectives John W. Norton said the men have confessed seven robberies committed during the past two months. They are suspected of robbing many other wealthy Chicago men and women, he said.

The first bandit captured, who gave his name as Joseph Pearson, was caught when he attempted to rob William Dewey, manager of the exclusive Edgewater Beach hotel, near his suburban home. Dewey fired at the bandit and police arrived in time to capture him.

Acting on information given by the first bandit, police today captured John Flood and Joseph Gollub Norton said the three men had confessed working together in seven robberies.

Records Of Twenty Captains Are Clean

Chicago, June 2—(UP)—Only 20 of the 37 Chicago police captains whose bank accounts were investigated by a grand jury were found to have "absolutely clean financial records," it was announced by Assistant State's Attorney Charles J. Mueller as the jury re-convened today to continue its work.

The jurors have completed a scrutiny of the bank accounts, Mueller said, and will turn their attention to dealings which the captains may have had in building and loan associations and brokerage offices.

The investigation was started after charges of graft and corruption were made against the police department. Mueller said the evidence of wealth amassed by some of the captains was "amazing."

Accounts of one officer showed holdings of $500,000. Another captain had transferred to his wife's name wealth that far exceeded his salary.

The average salary of a captain is slightly less than $5,000 a year.

Springfield, Ill., June 2—(UP)—Faced with a docket comprising more than 300 cases among which are six appeals by men sentenced to be electrocuted for murder, the Illinois Supreme Court convened its June term today. Justice Clyde E. Stone, Peoria, presided.

The term marks the close of the long judicial career of Justice William Farmer, Democrat, Vandalla, who quits office on July first though he still has two years to serve. His successor will be named a special election August 31. Farmer has been a member of the high court for 25 years.

REHABILITATION OF MOUNT MORRIS COLLEGE PLANNED

President Of Institution
Tells Kiwanis Club
Club Of Plans

President C. Ernest Davis of the Mt. Morris College in an interesting talk Tuesday before the Kiwanis club, outlined the plans of the educational institution in its rehabilitation program. Antagonism does not exist between the State universities and the smaller institutions of learning, the speaker said, but on the contrary the kindest feeling exists between the University of Illinois and the smaller colleges.

The smaller college of today, he explained, provides educational facilities for those who would otherwise receive no college education, because of the crowded condition of the state universities. The smaller colleges cater to a class of students who are eager to learn and are a source of a great saving to the state institutions. He explained that the future outlook for the smaller colleges was very bright.

President Davis stated that the Mt. Morris college has an enrollment range of 50 miles located in the Rock River valley, accommodating 65 high schools. He briefly spoke of the fire of Sunday morning, April 12, which destroyed or damaged four of the college buildings, leaving one building, the boy's dormitory untouched. School activities were resumed at 7:30 the following Monday morning, with citizens throwing open their homes to students and churches their edifices for the holding of classes.

Comparatively small loss was sustained in equipment, he stated, as the greater part of this was removed from the buildings. A meeting of the board of directors held April 23 and 24, resulted in the rehabilitation program being adopted. Sufficient insurance was expected to rehabilitate old sandstone, the historic structure and the administration building and to retire the college indebtedness, he said. The improvement program is now well under way and by the opening of the school in September the two buildings will be in first class condition.

Harry Kable of Mt. Morris last week announced a present to the college of $25,000 to be used in the building of a new gymnasium, with the provision that citizens of Mt. Morris subscribe a like amount. The Kiwanis Club of Mt. Morris sponsored the drive and today more than $16,000 has been subscribed of this amount which assures this building. An entirely new plan of campus development has been adopted by the board of trustees.

An extended campaign for endowment funds is under way and is meeting with excellent success, the speaker announced, thus assuring the stabilization of the institution which was begun in 1839 in what was then practically a wilderness and has successfully endured to the present time. The constituency of the institution, the speaker stated, namely the Church of the Brethren, were meeting the challenge in the rebuilding program by their donations and the maintenance of the college in Rock River valley.

Chicago Banks Come To Aid Cook County

Chicago, June 2—(AP)—Seven of Chicago's largest banks came to the rescue today as Cook county defaulted on payment of $1,868,400 in principal and interest on bond issues.

The banks, Central Trust, Continental Illinois Bank & Trust, First National, Foreman-State National, Harris Trust & Savings, National Bank of the Republic, and Northern Trust, said they would advance the money providing the bonds and interest coupons are presented for sale at their face value by July 1.

County Treasurer Joseph B. McDonough said the money due yesterday was to have been paid out of 1929 taxes which recently fell due only 58 per cent of the 1929 levy has been collected, he said, and the 1930 taxes are not due until next January.

McDonough said he had tried to borrow money in anticipation of the collection of 1931 taxes but had failed. He said he could have met the debentures by diverting money held in trust but without incurring liability on his bond.

Village Is Without Water, Sanitation

Canton, Ill., June 2—(AP)—The village of Farmington was today without water, police and sanitation as the result of the city council's refusal to agree to withdraw an injunction against Treasurer Donald Park and Clerk Roy Shuler, who have been enjoined from paying city salaries.

Mayor A. C. Wood, who was recently elected, had guaranteed salaries for May in expectation of a compromise before the council met last night but refused to continue to do so.

The matter hinges on appointments to be made by the mayor, who so far has not made any selections, although several names have been informally discussed with councilmen.

STERLING ACTING GOV.
Springfield, Ill., June 2—(UP)—Lieutenant Governor Fred E. Sterling officiated as Acting Governor and in his regular capacity as presiding officer in the Illinois Senate today.

Sterling became Governor through the absence from the state of Governor L. L. Emmerson who is in French Lick, Ind., attending the Governors' convention.

Baseball Gossip

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The New York Giants, battling for the National League lead, apparently will need a lot of help from the other eastern clubs of the circuit. And if their sectional comrades hold the present pace, they may get it. The Giants took a severe setback in the opening game of their "crucial" series with the St. Louis Cardinals yesterday and have few hopes of capturing first place unaided.

The Cards won the opener by a 4 to 0 count in a tight duel between Burleigh Grimes and Fred Fitzsimmons and placed themselves 2½ games ahead of their rivals. The Giants must win three straight victories in the remaining games to leave St. Louis in the lead. Grimes, capturing his seventh straight game and his second victory over the big New York hurler, drove in the winning run himself with a timely seventh inning single.

But if they escape trouble in their current series the Cardinals must face Brooklyn, Boston and Philadelphia in succession and all three are fighting for first division berths. The Robins climbed into a tie with the Braves for fourth place yesterday as they rallied in the ninth inning to beat the Chicago Cubs 7 to 6. Wally Gilbert's triple with two on base offset Chicago's eighth inning rally and Gilbert scored on Herman's fly to win.

The Braves succumbed to the Pittsburgh Pirates 4 to 2 as Ed Brandt, who had won eight successive games, finally met defeat. Brandt had two out in the ninth when Bill Regan drove Fred Bennett home with the winning run. The Phillies climbed into a tie with the Braves for fourth place yesterday as they rallied in the ninth inning to beat the Chicago Cubs 7 to 6. Wally Gilbert's triple with two on base offset Chicago's eighth inning rally and Gilbert scored on Herman's fly to win.

The Cleveland Indians finally broke the spell the eastern clubs of the American League had held over them as they opened their tour of the dangerous south. They piled up eight runs in the sixth inning then staggered through to a 12-11 victory while the Boston Red Sox scored five times in the ninth. It was Cleveland's eighth straight victory.

Philadelphia and Washington, the other big winners of the circuit, came through in their usual form. Bing Miller's sixth inning homer with one on base and Rube Walberg's four hit pitching gave the Athletics a 3 to 2 victory over Chicago. Carl Fischer, young Washington hurler, was hit freely but pitched a good game and the Senators beat the Detroit Tigers 5 to 3. Fischer rang up six strikeouts.

The New York Yankees continued their pursuit of Washington by trouncing the St. Louis Browns 9 to 2. Lefty Gomez checked all his rivals except Melillo, who hit four times, while the Yanks piled up 12 hits at timely moments.

TO STUDY UMPIRES

Chicago, June 3—(AP)—William Harbridge, newly elected president of the American League, believes it takes a good umpire to find out what's wrong with other umpires so he has appointed the veteran Tom Connolly for the job.

In keeping with his promise to American League club owners and managers, who have been complaining about umpiring decisions this season, President Harbridge yesterday appointed Connolly as umpire-in-chief of the circuit. He will take up his duties June 18.

Connolly, dean of the umpiring staff of the league and rated as one of the best in either major league loop, also will advise the president on playing rules.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN GOULD

Maybe the affable Mr. Gabby Street made a mistake when he shipped Dizzy Dean down to the Houston farm of the St. Louis Cardinals without so much as an inquiring look against National League opposition.

Dean proceeded to mow down the Texas league opposition in such a convincing fashion that it is almost an even money wager that he will force the Red Birds to recall him to the big show, especially if some of the veteran Cardinal curvers continue to perform uncertainly.

That is the nice thing about the Cardinal chain store method of doing business. Mistakes can be rectified. Dean can be recalled to headquarters. He probably will be.

Very shortly.

Perhaps Street figured, while his veterans were going well enough, that it was better to keep Dizzy busy at regular chores than to spend his time fretting on a major league bench or in the bullpen. If so, the idea is sensible enough, but there are only about 15 other big league clubs who would be delighted to have Dean working for them right now.

GRID GLADNESS

Not only have American colleges and universities failed to feel much depression in their athletics, on the whole, but they are destined to enjoy a five year boom, starting this fall, in the optimistic view of Maj. John L. Griffith, commissioner of the Big Ten.

The major, after inspecting his own conference premises cites these prosperous facts: that Ohio State is building a gymnasium and natatorium, that Michigan has just completed a $450,000 18-hole golf course, that Chicago is starting construction of a field house costing $750,000, that Illinois is building an ice hockey rink and an 18-hole golf course costing approximately $500,000, and that Wisconsin has just dedicated a new field house which also cost about a half million dollars.

While attendance at college football last fall was somewhat under the attendance of 1929, he said,

ARLETT RATES AS ONE OF BEST NEW PLAYERS IN GAME

Philadelphia Rookie's Hitting Is the Joy Of Town's Fans

By DIXON STEWART

United Press Staff Correspondent

New York, June 3—(UP)—Russell (Buzz) Arlett, oldest of the 1931 major league rookies, is making a strong bid for recognition as the outstanding recruit of the year.

The sensation Phillies long distance slugger, who was rejected by numerous big league scouts, not only is living up to his minor league promise as a hitter but has confounded the ivory hunters who believed his fielding was too poor to warrant a major league trial.

With six weeks of the 1931 season completed, Arlett is leading the National League in hitting with an average of .385, tops the circuit in hits with 60 and is second only to his teammate Chuck Klein in home runs and runs batted in. National League twirlers have learned to respect the former Coast Leaguer who now is rated as one of the most dangerous batsmen in the league.

Arlett's fielding has left little to be desired and the ponderous rookie promises to give his highly rated teammate, Klein, and other stars real competition for recognition as one of the league's star gardeners.

Arlett's sensational play is especially impressive because of the fact that the big gardener was rejected by many major league scouts before winning his chance with the Phils. The "rookie" is 33 years old and played for 13 years in the Pacific Coast League before getting his first trial in the majors. He served five years with Oakland as a pitcher and the next eight as an outfielder. He hit 237 home runs in the last eight years in that league and was regarded as the most dangerous batsman in the circuit, although he never managed to lead the league in hitting.

Last summer Arlett would have been purchased by the Brooklyn club it was said, if it hadn't been for a mixup with a Coast League umpire who struck him in the face with a mask. Arlett always has had a reputation as a hot head, which perhaps was one of the reasons he did not become a big leaguer until this year.

Arlett's injury kept him from becoming a member of the Brooklyn team but when Brooklyn later purchased Lefty O'Doul from the Phils, the purchase money enabled the Philadelphia team to buy the Coast League star and his hitting has more than made up for the absence of the former league batting champion.

Philadelphia fans rate Arlett as the outstanding recruit of the season.

Pigeon racing popular

Portland, Ore. (UP)—Pigeon racing here is a popular sport. Members of the Portland racing pigeon club held a race recently. Their entries were required to cover a 75-mile course between Portland and The Dalles along Columbia river. Willamette Chief flew in record time of 1:42:66 yards a minute or just short of a mile a minute.

Bride whispered "No"

Cleveland—(UP)—Henry A. Rupert won a divorce from his wife, Hattie, because, he said, she repudiated her marriage vows at the very moment the ceremony was performed. "The Justice of the Peace asked her if she would promise to love, honor and obey me," Rupert related. "She said 'I will,' and then under her breath she muttered, 'not.'"

South Bend, Ind., June 3—(UP)—Bill Redmond, Joliet, Illinois, has been elected captain of the 1932 Notre Dame golf team. He won the Indiana state individual title last year and is one of the most consistent players on the squad which has not lost a meet in two years. He will be one of the Notre Dame players who will compete in the National Intercollegiate meet at Olympia Fields, Chicago, June 22-27.

New York, June 3—(UP)—Italy's amateur boxing team, holders of the Olympic title, will attempt to demonstrate its superiority over a select group of United States fighters at Madison Square Garden tonight. It will be the second meeting of the two teams. The first matches ended in a draw and the foreigners immediately challenged for a return meet which was granted.

There will be no possibility of a tie tonight for only seven bouts are carded. The lightweight contest has been dropped.

New York, June 3—(AP)—With the University of Arizona still a doubtful starter, the draw and schedule for the Intercollegiate polo championships have been announced by the United States Polo Association.

Pending a decision as to whether the rule providing that each team must use its own mounts will be waived in Arizona's case, the draw was made on the basis of six entries—Yale, Pennsylvania Military College, University of Oklahoma, Army, Harvard and Princeton. If Arizona is permitted to enter the draw will be revised.

The opening game of the tournament will pit Yale against Penn Military, June 13. Oklahoma will play Army and Harvard will battle Princeton, on June 15. The winner of the Yale-Penn Military game will encounter the Harvard-Princeton survivor, June 18, with the final between the victors of this encounter and that between Army and Oklahoma.

STAGG FIELD TO SEE BIG STARS OF ATHLETIC CIRCLES

300 Outstanding Track Men To Compete In N. C. A. A. Events

By GEORGE KIRKSEY

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, June 2—(UP)—The climax of the track and field season will be reached when almost 300 picked stars from 50 colleges compete in the tenth annual National Collegiate Association meet at Stagg Field Friday and Saturday.

Every section of the country, except the east, will be represented. Southern California, which won the I. C. A. A. A. meet at Philadelphia last Saturday, is favored to retain its national collegiate title over Stanford.

Individual championships, however, always have been regarded as more important in the National Collegiate meet than the team championship, which is incidental.

Seven champions will be back to defend their titles, including Frank Wykoff, Southern California, 100-yard dash; Joe Strak, Butler, mile; Lee Sentman, Illinois, 220-low hurdles; Tom Warner, Northwestern, pole vault; Jim Stewart, Southern California, high jump; Ed Gordon, Iowa, broad jump and Kenneth Churchill, California, javelin.

Last year six N. C. A. A. records were established, three tied, and three world's records tied. The class of this year's field promises another assault not only on the meet records, but several world's records as well.

Outstanding Performances

Among the outstanding performances of the athletes entered in the N. C. A. A. are the following:

100-yard dash: Wykoff, Southern California 9.4; Medley, Southwestern (Okla.) 9.4; Swift, Washington State 9.5; Glass, Oklahoma A. & M. 9.5.

220-yard dash: Klander, Kansas 26.8; Tolian, Michigan, 26.9.

440-yard dash: Williams, Southern California 47.4; Eastman, Stanford 47.4; Letts, Chicago, 1:54.4; 47.4; Letts, Miami, 48.3.

880-yard dash: Putnam, Iowa State, 4:16.3; Letts, Indiana, 4:18.6.

1 mile: Chamberlain, Michigan State, 9:18.7; Wright, Wisconsin, 9:21.9.

120-yard high hurdles: Keller, Ohio State, 14.3; Sentman, Illinois, 14.4; Hager, Iowa State, 14.5.

220-low hurdles: Gridley, Kansas, 23; Keller, Ohio State, 23.3; Payne, Southern California, 23.4; Nisbet, Stanford 23.8.

Pole vault: Graber, Southern California 14 ft. 1½ in.; McDermott, Illinois, 13 ft. 9-10 in.

High jump: Jones, Ball State Teachers, 6 ft. 5-16 in.; Shaw, G. Wisconsin, 6 ft. 5 in.; Stewart, Southern California, 6 ft. 4 in.

Broad jump: Tomson, Nebraska, 25 ft. 6-14 in.; Gordon, Iowa, 25 ft. 4-3-8 in.; Barber, Southern California, 25 ft. 3-1-2 in.

Shot put: Rhea, Nebraska, 51 ft. 2-1-8 in.; Hall, Southern California, 154 ft. 9-3-4 in.; Purma, Illinois, 154 ft. 1-2 in.

Javelin throw: Churchill, California, 220 ft. 11-1-4 in.; Weldon, Iowa, 205 ft. 3-1-2 in.

Dean Cromwell, veteran Southern California track coach, doesn't give the climate all the credit for the development of the Trojan's great galaxy of track and field stars, undefeated in team competition in two years.

After winning the I. C. A. A. A. title in the east for the second straight year, the Southern California team is here to defend its National Collegiate Athletic Association championship at Stagg Field Friday and Saturday.

"It's the climate" is the usual answer to why our athletes excel those of other sections," said Cromwell. "but that is not the most important reason."

"In my opinion it's because the boys set out to be champions, train like champions and conduct themselves like champions on and off the field of competition. None of my boys knows what the taste of alcohol is and few of them ever tasted tobacco. They never stop training. I frankly train my boys to reach the peak in the national meets. That's why they can conquer the continent and perform as well and sometimes better than at home."

Trojans Are Cinch

With Stanford out of the National Collegiate meet, Southern California is virtually certain to run away with the title. The Trojans won last year with 55-27-70 points, and they are quite likely to exceed this total by many points this year.

Coach Cromwell expects at least five of his team to win first places, and as first counts 10 points, that alone amounts to 50 points. The quintet he expects to win consists of Frank Wykoff in the 100-yard dash, Vic Williams in the 440, William Graber in the pole vault, Jim Stewart in the high jump and Richard Barber in the broad jump. Other Trojans are likely to send Southern California's total soaring to a new N. C. A. A. record.

There are two Trojans—Graber in the pole vault and Williams in the quarter—from whom Coach Cromwell expects new world's records before long.

Graber, a 20-year-old sophomore, made the best vault of his career in winning the pole vault at 14 feet ½ inch at Philadelphia last week.

Looks For Record

"I expect Graber to reach 14 feet 6 inches in the pole vault during his career," said Cromwell. "He has his timing, absolutely perfect and pole vaulting is nothing more than timing and rhythm, anyway."

The present pole vault record is 14 feet, 1-1-2 inches made by Lee Barnes, also a product of Southern California and Cromwell.

Cromwell calls Williams one of the most "marvellous competitive athletes I have ever seen and the fastest finisher in the quarter mile of the present generation."

Williams ran the quarter in 47.4 in the I. C. A. A. A. meet last week to equal the world's record made by Ted Meredith 15 years ago.

"Williams will set a new record when someone comes along to set a fast enough pace for him during the first half of the 440," said Cromwell. "I have never seen a finish like his. He comes down the stretch as if he was shot out of a cannon."

FARRELL LEADS AMERICAN GOLF STARS IN OPEN

Henry Cotton, British Player, Ties His 72 In Opening Plan

Carnoustie, Scotland, June 3—(AP)—Johnny Farrell, smiling young Irishman from Mamaroneck, N. Y., today took the lead among the early finishers of the first round of the British open golf championship with a par 72.

Playing through a strong wind, Farrell went out in a par cracking 33 and staggered home in 39.

Close behind Johnny was his golfing partner Gene Sarazen, both of them former United States open champions, with a 74.

MacDonald Smith, who led the qualifying field of 109 with two brilliant rounds of 70-71 lapsed just enough today to pull him down to a 75 and third place among the early American finishers.

It was black magic, the natives whispered, what Johnny did with his putter on that outward swing. Of the nine holes seven were scored with one putt.

When word of his record breaking time came to the club house hundreds of persons dashed out across the burns and fairways to escort him home.

He played easily and unhurriedly across the tricky traps and burns and was never in serious trouble.

Farrell did not hold his lead alone for long, Henry Cotton, the 24-year-old British pro, coming in with a 72 to match the American's score.

Cotton had 12 fours running in his 36 out and his 36 in, playing the steadiest round of the morning.

As the day wore on and the headliners began to come in the American scores looked better.

Charles Whitcombe, captain of the British Ryder Cup team could do no better than a 79; Abe Mitchell took a 77 and Rufus Stewart and Eric McRivie, 76s.

John DeForest, the youngster who was runnerup in the amateur championship at Westward Ho required 82 strokes to get around.

Scores for the first round of play in the championship follow:

Johnny Farrell U. S. A. 72.

Henry Cotton, Great Britain 72.

Gene Sarazen, United States 74.

MacDonald Smith, 75.

Rufus Stewart, Great Britain 76.

Eric McRivie, Great Britain 76.

Abe Mitchell, Great Britain 77.

Horton Smith, United States 77.

Charles Whitcombe, Great Britain 79.

Tony Manero, U. S. A. 82.

AIR CORPS GAINS NOTED BY ARMY AVIATION HEADS

Experts See Military Air Defenses Greatly Strengthened

BY JOSEPH H. BAIRD

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Washington —(UP)— Under the impetus of the five-year expansion plan adopted by Congress in 1926, the army air corps has been vastly strengthened, in the view of War Department aviation experts.

While holding still more planes and officers are necessary for a well-rounded military air defense, the air corps, in summarizing its achievements of the last few years, pointed to what it considers rapid progress both in technical equipment and skill of pilots.

Under the five-year plan, adopted in 1926 but not put into effect until 1927, the air corps was to have 1,800 "servicable" planes, 1,650 regular officers, 550 reserve officers on duty each year and 15,000 enlisted men in 1932. The material program has gone forward according to schedule, save for a deficit of 66 planes, construction of which was delayed until 1933 because of an anticipated treasury deficit at the time the 1932 budget was drawn up.

Lacks Sufficient Planes
According to the present schedule of increases, the air corps will have 15,000 enlisted men in 1932, but is short 200 officers, because Congress has not provided for them. Also, the air corps has lacked sufficient planes to keep 550 reserve officers on duty constantly, officials said.

Air corps officers take particular pride in the technical advances made in fighting ships during the last two years. In 1929, they point out, pursuit planes had a high speed of 165 miles per hour; now it is 192. Ability to climb, one of the prime requisites of a combat plane, has also been increased. New pursuit ships can go up to 30,000 feet compared with 21,000 two years ago.

Simultaneously, armament has been made more deadly. In 1929, pursuit planes carried two 30-caliber machine guns capable of firing 2,500 rounds. Now a 50-caliber gun has replaced the smaller kind, bringing greater destructiveness. A 50-caliber bullet is no larger than one's finger; yet it strikes with a force of five tons.

Bombs Also Improved
Bombs, too, have been improved. A new super-sensitive fuse has been designed, capable of exploding on contact with surfaces as light as an airplane wing. Modern pursuit pilots, instead of coming within close range of a bombing formation and exposing themselves to machine-gun fire, can bombard bombers from a safe altitude, officers point out.

Bombing planes now carry six men, speed 130 miles per hour and carry 4,000 pounds of bombs. More, they carry a veritable arsenal to fight off enemy attacks—four machine guns, advantageously mounted to fire at nearly any angle.

Better Pursuit Ships
Meanwhile, experimenters in the field and laboratory workers are striving to make war in the air even more deadly. They are concentrating their energies particularly on attack planes. Before the end of 1931, air corps experts expect to see attack planes of increased speed and terrific power of destruction. It is estimated one squadron, equipped with the new ships, will be able to fire 68,400 rounds of ammunition per minute and drop two and one-half tons of bombs. Also, before the end of the year, the air corps expects to perfect a new two-seater pursuit plane so arranged that a gunner sits with his back to the pilot and controls a machine-gun that protects the plane from rear attacks. Such a defense is now impossible.

Perfect Airships
Progress is expected, too, in observation planes. Officers expect to see adoption of a long-distance reconnaissance plane equipped with two 600-horsepower engines and with a retractable landing gear, giving increased speed.

Changes in the air corps' organization are planned. The War Department is working out a system under which there will be a bombardment wing on both coasts, an attack wing in the Central South, a General Headquarters unit in Michigan, and two observation groups, one of the east coast and one in Texas.

BLACKBURN COLLEGE

This unusual school is in Carlinville, county seat of Macoupin county, on State Route No. 4. Pullman cars are used for offices and for many of the classrooms. All students at the school must be minus their riches before they can enroll. Every student is employed, working for pay. The work plan has been in effect for seventeen years. Whenever they need a new building for Blackburn College their employment problem is solved at the outset. All that is necessary is to put the students of Blackburn College on the job. The trip to Carlinville is also interesting, the city being picturesquely located with Macoupin creek flowing through the region on its way to the Illinois River.

SAWING DIAMONDS

New York—(UP)—An ingenious American device making it possible to saw through the hardest diamond proves more efficient and economical than splitting the stones by cleaving. The saw is a very thin metal disc turning at a tremendous speed. An entire day is required to saw through a one carat rough diamond.

Story Gives "Cops" Murder Clue

If the murder of Mrs. Cora Bell Hackett at Eagle River, Wis., last July is solved it may be because two San Francisco detectives got their tip in a detective magazine. In it they saw a picture of George W. Perry, wanted for the murder, which looked just like James Moran, whom they arrested for a minor offense a short time before. Moran, who denies the charges, is shown talking it over with Detectives Robert Hughes and James Johnson.

PUBLIC HEALTH IN THE TIME OF GEORGE WASHINGTON AS COM- PARED WITH THAT OF TODAY

By Surgeon General H. S. Cumming, United States
Public Health Service

While our present public health activities, with the exception of vaccination against smallpox and the use of quinine in the treatment of malaria, belong almost wholly to the past fifty or sixty years, a comparison of the prevalence and severity of disease and the state of the public health during the lifetime of George Washington with such conditions of the present time is of interest. Such a study is particularly timely because of the arrangements being made by the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission for the celebration of our First President's two hundredth birthday in 1932.

Historical records indicate that the principal obstacles which the early American colonists had to overcome were starvation, disease, and the Indians. These three things conspired to impose great hardships upon the early settlers and constant hazards to life. In some instances entire settlements were wiped out by disease and starvation. Though select histories do not mention the fact, it is on record that Jamestown was abandoned "because of epidemics." The more prevalent diseases in the Colonies were smallpox, scurvy, intestinal conditions—diarrhea, dysentery—and what is now recognized as typhoid fever. There were, of course, outbreaks of influenza and colds; and tuberculosis was not unknown.

Smallpox was one of the most fatal and most common diseases of the period. This disease was epidemic in Philadelphia in 1730, two years before the birth of Washington. Benjamin Franklin in his autobiography relates that in 1736 he lost a son, "a fine boy of four years old, by the smallpox." He adds that "I long regretted him, and still regret that we had not given it to him by inoculation."

It was not until the latter part of the 18th century (1766) that Dr. Edward Jenner, an English physician, published his observations on the value of vaccination against smallpox and showed the world how the disease could be prevented. The practice of vaccination was first introduced into the United States by Dr. Benjamin Waterhouse, one of the early officers of the United States Public Health Service, then called Marine Hospital Service, in Boston in 1800. He obtained some vaccine virus from England and vaccinated his own son, thus performing the operation in this country for the first time. Thomas Jefferson was greatly interested in vaccination and endeavored to encourage its wide-spread use. An act of Congress approved February 27, 1813, entitled "An act to Encourage Vaccination," provided for the distribution of Vaccine virus throughout the United States. Despite the fact that more than a century has elapsed since the efficacy of smallpox vaccination was proved, universal vaccination is not yet practiced and the disease is still quite prevalent in this country, although less severe than formerly.

Measles seems at times to have raged very fatally in some of the colonial towns. In 1740 and 1741 Connecticut was swept by a severe epidemic of measles. In 1773 measles broke out in epidemic form in Philadelphia. A very malignant epidemic occurred in New York in 1778. The type of measles which occurs now is quite mild as compared with that period.

Epidemics of influenza prevailed throughout the Colonies at various times. In 1747 influenza raged over North America, and again in 1761. A characteristic description of the condition is given by a physician of that time as follows: "It began with a severe pain in the head and the limbs. A sensation of coldness, shivering, succeeded by great heat, running at the nose and a troublesome cough. It continued for 8 or 10 days, and generally terminated by sweating." The disease was epidemic throughout the country in the spring of 1781, and was observed to leave a tendency to the development of pulmonary tuberculosis. The recurrence of severe epidemic outbreaks of influenza unfortunately is still of common occurrence.

In 1736 and 1738, Boston was visited by an epidemic of what was undoubtedly diphtheria, though the term "angina maligna" was used. A similar outbreak is described at about the same date as having occurred in New York. Numerous other outbreaks are also recorded. The first aid to the control of this disease was the discovery of diphtheria antitoxin in 1894. The decline in the death rate from this disease has been very marked, from about 116 per 100,000 population in 1890 to 6.6 per 100,000 in 1929.

At the beginning of the century prior to the birth of Washington, one writer refers to "fluxes, fever and the belly ache" as being common conditions. He relates the above-mentioned conditions to improper eating. Dysentery appears to have been a rather common summer time complaint in the Colonies. It was not until the beginning of the nineteenth century, however, that typhoid fever and typhus fever were differentiated. As late and 1842 a writer on medical subjects in the United States classified the fevers under four headings—typhus, typhoid, periodic, and yellow fever. Today typhoid fever is a vanishing disease.

Yellow fever visited the Colonies and States on several occasions, an outbreak of particular severity having occurred in Philadelphia in 1793. New York suffered from a severe epidemic of yellow fever in 1795. On the 19th day of July, 1795, a ship, the ZEPHYR, arrived at New York from the West Indies. A boy in her crew died soon after she came into port. The health officer, a physician, boarded the vessel and viewed the corpse. He developed the fever and died on the 29th day of July. Another ship which lay at anchor near the ZEPHYR soon developed cases of fever among her crew.

Ten years before the birth of George Washington, the State of Virginia passed an "Act to Oblige Ships Coming from Ports Infected with the Plague to Perform their Quarantine." As early as 1716 a committee was appointed by the legislative body of Massachusetts to select a site for an isolation hospital for quarantine purposes. In 1730 an act was passed empowering courts to adjourn and remove from towns appointed by law for holding courts, in case of sickness by the smallpox. A year later an act was passed "to Prevent

GOOD MAYONNAISE DEPENDS UPON THE WAY OIL IS ADDED

Likewise, Flavor Development in Coffee Depends Upon
Roasting Process

Housewives sometimes can add oil to mayonnaise ingredients in large amounts and not see the mixture separate. But in most cases there is disappointment. "A little at a time" is the best way. Occasionally big batches of coffee can be roasted to perfection, but this result cannot always be depended upon. Because of this, Hills Bros., after years of study, originated and patented Controlled Roasting—a continuous process that roasts only a few pounds at a time.

A constant stream of the blended green coffee is introduced into a series of roasters in accurately measured lots—about three pounds. As it passes through in a steady, automatically controlled flow, the heat, which never varies, roasts every berry to uniform perfection. No other coffee tastes like Hills Bros. Coffee because none is roasted the same way. It always comes to you fresh, because Hills Bros. pack their coffee in vacuum cans. By this process, air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is taken out of the can and kept out. Coffee does not stay fresh in ordinary cans, even if air-tight, because there is air inside the can. Grocers everywhere sell Hills Bros. Coffee. Ask for it by name and look for the Arab—the trade-mark—on the can.

Persons Concealing Smallpox and Requiring a Red Cloth to be Hung Out in All Infected Places.

The practice of surgery during the time of Washington was in its early stages, and great advances have been made in that field as well as in the control of communicable diseases. Blood letting and cupping were still popular. In fact, the records show that in the last illness of Washington he was bled four times.

Scurvy, which we now know to be due to a dietary deficiency, chiefly the lack of fresh fruits and vegetables, was common not only among persons on prolonged sea voyages, but among the people in settlements on land. No doubt this condition was more prevalent during the winter season.

The development of water purification as a practical measure may be said to date from the beginning of the present century, and the results of its application in public health constitute one of the greatest public health achievements of the century. The history of water purification is clearly associated with the general progress in sanitation and public health of the present and preceding centuries. Judged by our present day standards, the sanitary quality of the water supplies of the United States in Washington's time, or even as recent as 50 years ago was low.

The great pestilences of Washington's time have either been practically eradicated from countries which have applied modern public health knowledge or have been reduced to a minimum. In addition to the elimination of the scourges of Colonial days, diseases which were undiagnosed in Washington's time have now been identified, the source of the infection for man has been conceived, and measures of preventing the condition have been made known to all.

If the Father of our Country should return to earth today, it may be that he would be most astounded and perplexed by the developments in the field of mechanics because those developments would at once be the most obvious; but later he could not fail to be equally amazed at the new science of public health and at the modern sanitation methods and safeguards of health that are employed in public health work and that have contributed so much to the health, happiness and prosperity of our Nation.

POLITICAL RULES DO NOT APPLY IN HOOVER'S CABINET

Present Administration Is Almost Non-Political
In Make-Up

By RAYMOND CLAPPER
United Press Staff Correspondent
Washington, June 3—(UP)—Commencement speakers are rendering the air this week with advice to the young on how to become great—most of them mean famous—but a look at the landscape here discloses that in politics such advice is useless, because no rules apply.

In boyhood Herbert Hoover's ambition was to earn a living himself without any help from anyone. He became President of the United States, James J. Davis, Secretary of Labor under three Presidents and now Senator from Pennsylvania, said this week he once aspired to be a barber. Instead he became an iron puddler.

Here in Washington the man who is being conspicuously honored by having his statue placed in Statuary Hall in the Capitol, in the company of the nation's immortals, was Jefferson Davis, who left the Union to become President of the confederate states.

The Supreme Court has just made binding the conviction of former Secretary of Interior Albert B. Fall on a charge of accepting a $100,000 bribe through the man who furnished the money was acquitted. Fall probably would have been one of our most eminent elder statesmen had not a newspaper reported gone looking around Fall's ranch and observed signs of a sudden, large and unexplained affluence, and told some Senators about it.

Many Tricks Of Fate
In politics, if one is living in a glass house, a stone may come hurtling through at any moment, as with Fall. And if one is honest, sincere and trying his level best, some slip may occur at a critical moment and rob him of the Presidency, as happened to Charles E. Hughes when he failed to hunt up Hiram Johnson and shake hands with him in California in 1916, thereby losing the one state necessary to beat Wilson.

Or as the late President Harding described his luck after a midnight conference in Chicago brought him the presidential nomination and certain election in 1920, one may go in with a pair of deuces and come out with a full house. Dr. Alfred Pearce Dennis of the Tariff Commission, an old friend of Calvin Coolidge, told you—he has it in his book "Gods and Little Fishes"—how years ago the two of them, both obscure and neither with any thought of future fame, ate daily lunch in a little bean house in Northampton, and gossiped about Louie the barber or some other town character. But hardening of another man's arteries changed the course of history for Calvin Coolidge.

Non-Political Cabinet
The Hoover administration is as non-political as any in years. Vice President Curtis is the only one who attends the semi-weekly cabinet meetings who has had a professional career devoted exclusively to politics.

Most of Mr. Hoover's cabinet are wealthy, college educated, and entered politics late in life after successful careers in business or professions. They violate most of the so-called rules of politics just as Mr. Hoover does—the son of an Iowa blacksmith who became established in London in a mining business of world-wide ramifications, returned to America with no definite party ties, and in a decade reached the Presidency.

Thumb-nail sketches of his cabinet would include the following items:

Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson—wealthy, Yale '88, Skull and Bones, Psi Upsilon; Lawyer protégé of Elihu Root.

Secretary of Treasury Andrew W. Mellon—wealthy; University of Pittsburgh, '73; sold wagons in west; inherited and expanded family fortune, first held office in 1921.

Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley—wealthy; Indian University, (now Boone College) Oklahoma, '05, Sigma Chi; cow puncher, coal miner, lawyer, capitalist, first held office in 1929.

Attorney General William D. Mitchell—wealthy, electrical engineering at Sheffield Scientific school; University of Minnesota, '05; lawyer, Democrat; first held federal office in 1929.

Postmaster General Walter F. Brown—Harvard '92; lawyer; active in Ohio politics for years.

Secretary of Navy Charles Francis Adams—of "The" Adamsons; Cum Laude Harvard '88; yacht racing; first federal office, 1929.

Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde—University of Michigan '91; Delta Upsilon; lawyer, insurance, Buick agent; state politics, rising to governor.

Secretary of Commerce Robert P. Lamont—University of Michigan '91; business; Director, Association Against the Prohibition Amendment until accepting first federal office, 1929.

Secretary of Labor William N. Doak—son of Confederate Soldier; Southern Business College; railroad labor union leader; University Club, Washington, first public office, 1931.

FIRST AUTO RIDE AT 88
Malden, Mass.—(UP)—That new-fangled contraption commonly known as an automobile is no longer a novelty to Leverett Dana Holden, 88-year-old city clerk of this Boston suburb. He recently went motoring for the first time in his long life after the ride he declined to comment on his adventure.

Clemenceau Marches On—in Statue

The "Father of Victory"—that is what Frenchmen may call this heroic statue of Georges Clemenceau, wartime premier. Leon Cognet, friend of the "tiger," famous sculptor, is shown beside his creation as it nears completion. It depicts Clemenceau as he appeared at the front, and will be placed on the Champ Elysees in Paris.

The Rochelle Garden Club has added two boxes to the three which were supplied by the Rochelle Woman's Club and placed at the fountain in Lawndale cemetery for several years. The growing plants in these boxes have added very materially to the appearance at the fountain.

QUEER MASCOTS GO DOWN TO THE SEA IN WARSHIPS

Gangway! Here are the animals who go down to the sea in ships, pictured by The Dixon Evening Telegraph-NEA Service cameraman on the decks of Uncle Sam's war vessels. . . . And speaking of "war dogs," there's "Mickie," the sea-going mascot of the U. S. S. Bagley, who has a service record dating back to March, 1929, and can bark his orders as well as any ensign.

The crew of the U. S. S. Isabel doesn't feel they're being killed in having "Lena," a kid, on board. . . . Sailors of the flying fleet at San Diego, Calif., avoid catastrophes by having as their companion "Tabby," a spotted wild cat caught in the jungles of Nicaragua. . . . Despite the fact that his beak can hold more than a certain other part of him can, "Honest John" Pe-lean is a great favorite with the seamen aboard of the U. S. S. Maryland. . . . "Missie," prize kitten, is already a regular go-by with a ladder up to her hammock on the deck of the U. S. S. Mississippi, which she hopes to convert into a "cat boat." . . . The U. S. S. California couldn't bear to sail without a brown cub as its official mascot.

Yes, sir, there are just "gobs" of animals in this man's navy. . . . And monkey shines are in order on the light cruiser U. S. S. Concord, where "Conkie"—who has a tail that serves as a fifth leg—has a yen for stealing sailors' caps and running up to inaccessible points in the rigging.

No more land animals would do as mascots for the men of the aircraft tender U. S. S. Aroostock, and Sally the seal cavorts for their approval. . . . Gobs of the U. S. S. Memphis got the jump on other ships in the way of a mascot with "Trassie," a freckly kangaroo. . . . "Whiskers" is a doggy member of the submarine chaser S. C. 189's crew. . . . And, Aboard the U. S. S. Delaware, this little piggy went to sea!

DENY STORY OF CAPONE GETTING ENORMOUS RANCH

Some Dixonites Have Visited
Property Gang
Leader Was After

A magazine story that Al Capone, Chicago gangster, had acquired the Santa Margarita ranch, of 250,000 acres, near Los Angeles, which a number of Dixon people have visited in company with M. J. Healin, of San Diego, was emphatically denied by Charles S. Hardy, general manager of the property, today. This is the second story of Capone's reported purchase of the ranch to be denied by Hardy. Several months ago a Los Angeles newspaper printed a story that Capone was negotiating for the ranch.

Hardy said today that the stories are purely imaginative, that Capone has never negotiated for the property and that if he has any intention of buying it, or even trying to buy it, he, Hardy, would know about it. According to Hardy, there has been no correspondence with Capone of his agents on the reported deal.

"The Santa Margarita ranch is owned by a corporation, the principal stock being held by the O'Neill heirs, and before it could be sold the consent of the heirs would have to be secured," Hardy said.

"So far as I know, none of these have indicated that they have sold their holdings, and all the stories about Capone are bosh."

Since the first report was published some time ago, Hardy said the ranch office has received numerous letters from other persons asking for options or wanting statistics about the ranch.

"All of these are thrown into the waste basket without answering," Hardy said.

Hardy also stated that the ranch office had received numerous letters from individuals and civic organizations protesting against any deal that would give Capone possession of the ranch.

CRISIS NEAR IN FASCIST-PAPAL QUARREL TODAY

Mussolini To Determine
Action Government
Will Follow

BY THOMAS B. MORGAN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Rome, June 3.—(UP)—A crisis in the controversy between the Vatican and the Fascist state was anticipated today.

A special meeting of the Central Directorate of the Fascist party was called by Premier Benito Mussolini to be held at his official residence at Venice Palace.

Mussolini was said to have indicated he would definitely decide what action the government would take in the present dispute which has threatened to result in an open breach between the Catholic church and the state. The Premier has determined to disband the Catholic laymen's organization, Azione Cattolica, as a whole, unless diplomatic negotiations for settlement of the controversy conform to his expectations, it is understood on good authority.

The directorate was expected to consider this determination and approve the Premier's program in what has developed into one of the most bitter controversies between church and state in modern times.

Encounter Difficulties
Inquiries at the Vatican indicated the negotiations for a settlement were proceeding, but that the representatives of the Holy See were encountering strenuous difficulties. It was stressed that the Vatican was most desirous of preventing a break with the Fascist government, but no effort was made to hide the fact that the dissolution of Catholic clubs throughout Italy had "gravely impressed" the Vatican.

However, it was believed unlikely that Pope Pius XI would again become a "voluntary prisoner" in the Vatican. Persons well informed concerning the Pope's attitude toward the controversy said the Pontiff was not expected to retire from his newly gained freedom, and that he was recognized as a sovereign in his own territory, enjoying its own national entity.

Furthermore, it was explained, the Catholic church never renounces treaties or concordats, but always adheres to the strict principle that the Holy See invariably keeps its faith in its engagements, leaving the other parties either to admit their errors or break off relations.

State Recognized
The fact that all nations acknowledge the existence of the Vatican State also was cited as preventing the return of the Pope to voluntary imprisonment from which he emerged early in 1929, after the signing of the Lateran accord with Italy.

The United States honors Vatican postage stamps—hence, it was argued, the Holy See nor Italy could destroy the Vatican State by breaking off relations.

Although these relations may be strained, it was believed the Pope always would stay in his own territory, never renouncing his sovereignty over that territory, although he might protest against violation of an agreement. Resumption of voluntary imprisonment would require that Italy seize the Holy See territory and deny the sovereignty of the Pope, which well-informed persons at the Vatican described as "unthinkable" at present.

It also was emphasized that the Pope has protested only against the alleged violation of the concordat, which is entirely separate from the Lateran accord. The Pontiff can denounce the concordat without affecting his position as a sovereign, and still receive yearly payments from Italy as the treaty requires.

Ape Revealed
As Bootlegger
Mansfield, Ohio, June 3.—(UP)—Residents in the northern section of Richland county may roam the woods at night undisturbed, for the mystery of the "ape" has been exposed.

The sheriff's office was notified last September that a huge ape was roaming at large over the northern section of the county. An investigation followed, and several persons who apparently had a keen sense of imagination testified that they had seen the creature.

The former county sheriff, Aaron Davis, said he had never been really satisfied with the case, and, with the hope that something more might be learned about the "monster," continued investigating.

The former sheriff learned the inside story a few days ago. He related it as follows:

"It developed that the huge ape was a man engaged in bootlegging. He was a short, heavy set individual, who was in the practice of hiding his wares in the woods. One afternoon, about dusk, he wanted to get some liquor, and, borrowing his wife's fur coat, he started out.

"He became fearful lest he should attract attention from people nearby, and sped from tree to tree as he dodged into the woods. Then he secured his package and escaped.

Aaron said he had been advised that the "ape man" recently had left the county.

"Thrill Killer" Caught After Six Year Hunt

NEA-Chicago Bureau

Sought since 1925 when he deserted an aviation detachment at Camp Mills, Long Island, N. Y., and allegedly murdered a taxi driver, Louis Panella, "just for a thrill," Philip Knox Knapp, former Cornell student and member of a prominent Syracuse N. Y. family has been captured and will be brought to trial. He was found in West Orange, N. J., living under the name of Allen K. Phillips. He is shown at the right in this photo sent by telephone for The Dixon Evening Telegraph and NEA Service, Inc., with Capt. Emil Morse of the Nassau police, who caught him. Knapp is said to have confessed the murder.

Bouncingest Boy Is Three and Half And Weighs 100 Lbs.

Chicago, June 3.—(UP)—Jules Tewlow, Chicago's bouncingest baby boy, was three years and six months old today and he weighed just a few ounces less than 100 pounds, measured 35 inches around the waist and wore a size 11 shoe.

"He's a perfectly normal child and no one knows what makes him gain weight so fast," said his father, Frank Tewlow, a photographer, who gave out a birthday interview for Jules.

"We had him X-rayed and there's nothing wrong with his glands or anything."

Jules' part in an interview with the United Press consisted mostly of proving that he is a bright boy, even if he is a bit overweight. He can read type, spell simple words and recite the lower multiplication tables.

"I want to be a photographer like my father when I grow up," he said, "but maybe I'll change my mind and be a carpenter."

For the present, Jules likes to play a game called "cowboys on ranches" with the other children in his neighborhood. Sometimes when the other children get rough, Jules' mother admitted, he cries.

Jules weighs four pounds more than his sister, Dorothy, who is nine years old. He gained ten pounds in the last two months, and at that rate he will weigh more than either his father or mother when he reaches the age of four.

"At the rate he is growing he would weigh about 400 pounds when he is ten years old," said Mrs. Tewlow. "Most physicians tell us however, that he probably will stop gaining weight pretty soon."

"Whatever happens, we know he will be a happy young man. We won't take advantage of him with vaudeville tours or anything like that. He's much nicer than most children, anyway."

The most important part of Jules' daily routine is three square meals a day, including lots of vegetables and milk—even if he coos grow up to measure his weight in a fraction of a ton. He sleeps eight hours every night and has a three hour nap in the afternoon. The rest of the time he plays in the park or sits in his 128-pound mother's lap while she tells stories.

The neighbors have figured out that if Jules gains ten pounds every two months for the next ten years, he will weigh 700 pounds when he is 14.

Thompson Supports
Farm Board Policy
Quincy, Ill., June 3.—(AP)—Sam H. Thompson, farm bureau leader and for two months a member of the Federal Farm Board, pleaded last night with his own neighbors to avail themselves of the advantages he said could be derived from government sponsorship in cooperative marketing.

"I suggest that when you farmers," he said, "hear attacks on cooperative marketing, the Farm Board and the Agricultural Marketing Act that find out a little investigating and find out the motives. This opposition comes mostly from handlers of farm produce who fear their business will be injured if these products are marketed by the producers in their own interest."

"Pay no attention to talk of 'government in business, artificial price fixing, and setting aside the law of supply and demand.' The facts are the farmers are going into the business of marketing their own products, and not the government. Their purpose is to market their products in such a way as to reflect back to themselves any profits made, and to make the law of supply and demand operate for both sides in the transaction and not against the producer as happens so much of the time under the old marketing system."

AMPLIFIER AIDS
DEAF CHILDREN
TO HEAR SOUNDS

Demonstration at Chicago School Proves Successful

Chicago, June 3.—(UP)—School children, deaf since birth, heard sounds for the first time when an amplifying apparatus, eventually to be placed in 100 school rooms of this city, was tried out on them.

It consisted of a specially constructed microphone into which the teacher spoke and her voice was made audible to deaf pupils through an amplifier, and head phone for the deaf.

At the demonstration, conducted at the Parker Practice school, the teacher spoke a word into the microphone, and several of the pupils heard the first sound ever to penetrate their ear drums.

A group of teachers and social workers headed by Mrs. Sadie Jacob Polton, of the Chicago Woman's Aid, is sponsoring the movement to equip all Chicago schools with the apparatus.

Installed in Schools
In addition to the equipment at Parker, the amplifying systems already have been installed at Bell and Spaulding schools, and a fourth awaits installation at another city school.

Mrs. Polton pointed out that while the apparatus will not restore hearing to totally deaf children it will enable them to develop their speech and learn tone variations.

"Many so-called deaf mutes," she said, "have remains of hearing but are being educated as deaf. They can be made to hear sounds and also taught to speak."

TUESDAY IS RED LETTER DAY IN PLANT HISTORY

Hoon, chief clerk of the local plant, unveiled the shaft. The speaker on behalf of the Portland Cement Association, presented it to the Dixon mills.

The acceptance of the trophy was very ably delivered by Phillip Mooney, plant engineer.

Accepted by Mooney
"In behalf of the personnel of the Dixon plant of the Medusa Cement Company, I accept this trophy. The cement industry throughout the country is engaged in a continual program of accident prevention in the interest of its employees. Through these efforts and this educational campaign, men today are living and sound instead of deaths, suffering and injuries," Mr. Mooney said.

President J. B. Johns of Cleveland, Ohio, was the next speaker on the program. His talk was replete with interest and during his remarks he paid a high tribute to Superintendent W. E. Wueth of the local plant and presented him with a huge basket of cut flowers, a token of appreciation from the employees. Mr. Wueth arose and accepted the fine gift, but despite the urging of his superior officer he maintained his custom of refusing to talk before the crowd.

"This is the fifth trophy that the Medusa Company has dedicated in the last three or four weeks and we have three more to dedicate," President Johns stated in opening. "Not so many years ago the cement industry possessed a record on an equal with the steel industry. That was a bad record, and was about equally divided between the cement and steel industries. There were numerous fatalities and much suffering."

"Eighteen years ago a safety program was launched in the cement mills and a year later it was discovered that an education program was necessary among the employees, so that they might be educated to help themselves. This result was truly wonderful. This year 43 cement plants have a record for no lost-time accidents. Five years ago 14 deaths and over 400 accidents occurred in the industry. Through the cooperation of the employees a campaign was launched to avoid deaths and prevent accidents in the cement manufacturing industry. It is the greatest work that can ever be done. It involves that human element which prevents misery caused by accidents. This campaign must continue, and the Medusa Company stands ready to aid its employees in this worthy work."

To Maintain Wages
"We hear much these days of conditions throughout the country. The cement industry is probably not enjoying its best days, but let me say that the Medusa Company will be the last in the country to reduce wages, but will do everything within its power to increase wages, and by so doing make America worth while. Let us all have confidence in the American people and the American industries. Better conditions will come back, but it is going to take time."

It was that time that President Johns presented the beautiful floral tribute to Superintendent W. E. Wueth, who, he stated had been in the employee of the Medusa Company for 30 years and was at all times, loyal, honest and true.

Attorney Oscar E. Carlstrom was the guest speaker of the afternoon and his talk was one which was greatly enjoyed and proved highly interesting. In part he said:

Attorney General Spoke
"This affair is one between plant employees and plant management. I wish at the outset to congratulate the employees and the officers of the Medusa mill at Dixon for this last year's record of cooperative mutual helpfulness and regard. Every citizen is interested in safeguarding of the greatest economic rights of manhood and womanhood. Laws have been passed and amended to protect workmen in every industry. Cooperation is necessary to prevent the terrible toll."

"The applause accorded Superintendent Wueth impressed me with the fine spirit of cooperation that exists in this large cement plant. It displayed a spirit of not only cooperation but common purpose and requires that you stand together to recover and become stronger than ever before. You are engaged in the conservation of human life. In this do not stop because you have attained this fine record and have been awarded this beautiful trophy. Go through with the job and then tally up the score."

In concluding his remarks, the Attorney General recalled the days when he attended the Dixon college as a law student. He stated that he held but one contention against the Medusa Company and in his jovial way, recalled the picturesque Fuller's cave of years ago, which, he stated, has now been converted into paved highways and beautiful structures throughout the country.

Vice-president and treasurer E. J. Maguire of the Cleveland offices of the Medusa Company paid a tribute to the wives, sweethearts and mothers of the employees, who he stated were deserving of great credit in bringing the trophy to the Dixon mill. He also congratulated the employees for their efforts in accomplishing the enviable record. He concluded by expressing his hope that the Dixon mill would continue their effective campaign and receive additional rewards.

Chairman W. L. White, Jr., stated that the Medusa Company had also been awarded the Joseph A. Holmes award by the United States Bureau of Mines for the fine record for the past year, an important part of which was played by the Dixon mill. The program concluded with a selection by the Boys' Band and the serving of refreshments to all present.

500 LIVES ARE SAVED AT SEA!

Ships Stage Daring Rescue Of Holiday Excursionists

This abandoned ship, the S. S. Harvard, might have been the watery tomb of 500 Memorial Day excursionists if it had not been for a prompt rescue effected in a foggy sea near Santa Barbara, Calif., by crews of government mine sweepers. Note the rope ladders by which the passengers descended when the ship went on the rocks. It was near this point that seven navy destroyers piled up on the rocks in 1923 with a loss of 22 lives.

Survivors from the S. S. Harvard are shown here arriving at Wilmington, Calif., where they were taken by a U. S. mine sweeper after the passenger ship went aground.

Kingsley of the engineering department of the Medusa Company at Cleveland in collaboration with Superintendent Wueth worked out the park plan and the actual work of construction was carried out under the supervision of Phillip Mooney, local plant engineer.

All of the park equipment is the product of the Medusa Company. The fountain basin, walks, eight decorative park benches, bird baths, the attractive green frogs, three of which border the fountain and even the safety trophy is a Medusa cement product. In the latter granite chips were used and the same plan is carried out in some of the other park equipment. The benches and bird baths were built at the Dixon plant, the frogs and fountain being sent from the Cleveland mills.

"Safety follows wisdom. Portland Cement Association safety trophy, awarded Medusa Portland Cement Company, Dixon, Ill., for a perfect safety record in 1930," is the gold lettered inscription across the face of the trophy. This is flood lighted at night from a light concealed in a cement block in the fountain on the face of which is the Medusa head trade mark.

Representatives from other cement mills who attended the program yesterday afternoon were as follows: John Oglesby, superintendent Lehigh mills, Oglesby; Gus Lundberg, superintendent Alpha Mills, LaSalle; C. H. McLarnin, Lehigh mills, Oglesby; Richard Moyle, superintendent Marquette mill, Oglesby; H. F. Tyler, superintendent Dewey mills, Davenport, Iowa.

Millions Visited
National Parks

Washington, June 3.—(UP)—The national parks and forests set a new record in 1930 by accommodating nearly 32,000,000 visitors, it was announced by the Forest Service. The actual figures on the count of persons visiting national forests were 31,004,515, which was almost 150,000 more than in the previous year.

Nearly all of the 151 forests where the count was made showed some increase in the total number but a decrease was manifested in the number of guests at hotels and resorts. The increase was due chiefly, the Forest Service report said, to a large increase in the number of campers and picnickers which showed a 300,000 gain over the 1929 figures.

California Leads
The State of California still leads the country with more than 16,000,000 visitors to the national forests located there and the White Mountain National Forest of New Hampshire leads the East with almost 2,000,000 visitors annually.

With new roads and trails, improved public camps and picnic grounds, increasing the accessibility of the forests, the Forest Service expects a markedly noticeable gain this year in attendance at the country's playgrounds.

One-third the population of the United States, or 40,000,000 persons, are transported on street cars every year.

Do not drop your Dixon Telegraph insurance. It costs but $1.25 a year—that means in case of accidental death your family will receive $1000.

In the United States last year, more than 40,000,000 dozen handkerchiefs were made.

Chairman W. L. White, Jr., stated that the Medusa Company had also been awarded the Joseph A. Holmes award by the United States Bureau of Mines for the fine record for the past year, an important part of which was played by the Dixon mill. The program concluded with a selection by the Boys' Band and the serving of refreshments to all present.

In concluding his remarks, the Attorney General recalled the days when he attended the Dixon college as a law student. He stated that he held but one contention against the Medusa Company and in his jovial way, recalled the picturesque Fuller's cave of years ago, which, he stated, has now been converted into paved highways and beautiful structures throughout the country.

Vice-president and treasurer E. J. Maguire of the Cleveland offices of the Medusa Company paid a tribute to the wives, sweethearts and mothers of the employees, who he stated were deserving of great credit in bringing the trophy to the Dixon mill. He also congratulated the employees for their efforts in accomplishing the enviable record. He concluded by expressing his hope that the Dixon mill would continue their effective campaign and receive additional rewards.

FAVORITE WON ENGLISH DERBY EASILY TODAY

Great Colt Defeats 24
Other Thoroughbred
Mounts To Cop

By TOM CREEDON
United Press Staff Correspondent
Epsom Downs, June 3.—(UP)—John A. Dewar's Cameronian the favorite, won the 148th running of the Derby before a throng of more than 500,000 on Epsom Downs today.

Orpen was second and Sandwich was third.

The great colt defeated 24 other smart three-year-olds to win under turf and a purse of $99,500. His victory brought a prize of $145,500 to Joseph Kennedy of Boston, who held a ticket on him in the Irish Sweepstakes, and to 18 other holders of tickets in the British Isles and elsewhere.

Cameronian was pronounced favorite at 7 to 2 in the betting. Orpen, owned by Sir John Rutherford, was 9 to 1, and Sandwich, owned by Lord Roseberry, was 8 to 1.

The King and Queen, the Prince of Wales and all the other members of the royal family watched a truly great Derby won. The champion jockey, Fred Fox, put up a wonderful ride on the winner of the two thousand guinea and the crowd was given a mighty thrill in the long stretch run past the stands, where Cameronian held his lead and withstood a hard drive to cross the wire in front.

They were off at 3:06. Cameronian sprang to the front going up the hill, followed by Estate Duty and Orpen. At the half mile, before turning Tattenham Corner, Gallini took temporary command.

Cameronian, a great son of Pharos—Una Cameron, was always well in hand, however, and made his bid after the turn around the corner. He went on to win by three-fourths of a length. Sandwich was the same distance back of Orpen, and Marcel Bouscass's Goyescas was fourth, another three-quarters back of Sandwich.

Insanity Defense
For Young Slayer

Chicago, June 2.—(UP)—A defense of insanity will be made for Varner Corry, 15, who shot a policeman with a pistol which he carried because it "fascinated" him, attorneys for Varner and two companions charged with murder announced today.

Charges that police intimidated the boys and took advantage of their youth in obtaining confessions to the shooting also were made by Ransom E. Walker and Samuel W. Antonow, defense attorneys.

"Society is on trial not these children," said Antonow. "At least two of these boys are not guilty, and I have my doubts about the third. Citizens are losing power every day to the police, as is shown by the fact that confessions were actually squeezed from these children."

Walker said he was convinced the youthful gun toter, star scholar and Boy Scout honor winner, is insane. He said that a psychiatrist will examine the boy in his cell in Cook county jail.

TEXAS AND HER "GANG" SAIL FOR BROADWAY T'DAY

Entertainers Being Returned to U. S. At Line's Expense

Havre, France, June 3.—(AP)—Texas Guinan and her dancing "gang" sailed as first class passengers for New York today on the liner Paris at the expense of the French Line.

"Broadway, here we come," they shouted as the liner headed out to sea.

The troupe was conveyed to the pier in two French line buses. Miss Guinan, accompanied by her manager, John Stein, made a brief visit to the offices of the line and joined the party at the pier by taxi.

They were all in good spirits, shouting "they will be inviting us back."

Harry Aslett, the Londoner who proposed marriage to Miss Guinan, with the understanding that she could enter England as his wife and then divorce him, arrived this morning from Plymouth to press his case. She was too preoccupied with sailing arrangements to give him much attention, but she said "stick around, 'here may be something doing yet.'"

He hovered unnoticed in the background as the entertainers went aboard through a crowd of curious persons.

"So Long, Sucker"
Aslett was left disconsolate on the pier with "So Long,

FALL LOOKS TO PRESIDENT FOR CLEMENCY NOW

Trial Judge May Suspend Jail Sentence: In Poor Health

Washington, June 2.—(AP)—Falling to obtain relief through the Supreme Court, Albert B. Fall today had remaining two narrow avenues of escape from a year in prison and a $100,000 fine.

The Interior Secretary in Harding's cabinet was refused a review by the highest tribunal yesterday of his conviction of accepting a $100,000 bribe from Edward L. Doheny, wealthy oil man, in leasing government oil lands.

If Fall receives a presidential pardon, he will be relieved of the entire penalty, but if that fails there remains the hope of his friends that the prison sentence will be suspended because of his age and ill-health.

At the White House it was said no appeal on behalf of Fall had been received and if one were made, it would follow the usual course and be sent to the Justice Department for recommendations.

Fall's friends found little comfort in that, but the recommendation of the trial judge at the time of his conviction led them to believe his chances for a suspension of the sentence good.

Justice Hitz, the trial judge, said that if Fall were to come before him for commitment the jail sentence would not be imposed because of Fall's physical condition.

The matter will rest in the District of Columbia Supreme Court until Albee Pomerene, special prosecutor for the government in the oil scandals, appears before a District Supreme Court judge and asks for a warrant of commitment. Pomerene said last night in Cleveland he would not recommend clemency for Fall.

Unless the President intervenes the question of the jail sentence will be settled then. If Fall loses, he will come to Washington and begin his sentence in the District of Columbia jail. If he wins, he probably will remain at his ranch at Three Rivers, New Mexico.

Since the incorporation of Hoopes-ton, Illinois, in 1872, the Mayor's salary has been 50 cents per year, and each of the eight aldermen receive 25 cents.

In cold storage in Chicago is enough butter and eggs to supply the entire nation for six weeks.

Illinois has 405 municipalities of 1,000 or more population.

More telephones were in use in Illinois at the close of 1930 than in any foreign country, excepting Germany and Great Britain.

In 1812, Edwardsville, Illinois, was the seat of government for a region including seven-eighths of Illinois, all of Wisconsin, Upper Michigan and part of Minnesota. Members of the legislative council received $2 per day for the 32-day session.

In Fayette County, near Farina, the greatest strawberry area in the state a record yield is anticipated. Three hundred acres have been planted, a 50 per cent increase over 1930.

A bathing pavilion, soon to be built in Lincoln Park, Chicago, will accommodate 10,000 bathers at one time.

Preparatory to changing to dial telephone service in Joliet, the Bell Telephone Company will start construction June 1 on a building there to house the necessary equipment. The ground, building and equipment will represent an investment of $1,460,000.

The Owens-Illinois Glass Company has announced that it will build a new furnace for colored glass at its Chicago Heights plant.

Evansville has voted the Evansston Railway Company a terminable-permit franchise to take effect at the expiration of the existing one, January 1, 1933.

Cook County supervisors plan a new $2,350,000 training school and nurses' home at the Cook County Hospital, Chicago.

A theatre, to cost $100,000, is to be built at Urbana.

Illinois counties will spend about $14,875,000 in 1931 for the construction of 510 miles of highways and 152 bridges, according to Frank T. Sheets, state highway engineer.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
BERYL BORDEN, secretly in love with TOMMY WILSON, delays his elopement with her half-sister, IRENE EVERETT, but fails to convince him that it is his duty to finish college.

Irene is jealous when she falls in a voice test and Beryl wins a radio contract. Beryl's debut wins applause and new friends but she cannot forget her hopeless love though she goes to parties with wealthy PRENTISS GAYLORD. When Irene learns Prentiss has money she tries to win him from Beryl.

Tommy's aunt dies and he loses money and his job. When he tells Irene of his bad luck, she breaks their engagement. Finally Prentiss asks Irene to marry him and she agrees. She tells Prentiss that Tommy is in love with Beryl when they arrive one night and see Tommy waiting on the porch, near tears in the car until Tommy leaves and then tells her family she is engaged to Prentiss.

Beryl's heart aches for Tommy who yields to despair and drinks heavily. She tries to get him to brace up. Meanwhile Irene receives a telegram from Prentiss. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXX

"LET me see it," Mrs. Everett begged and Irene gave her the telegram. It was from Prentiss, informing Irene that he'd be out early that day to ask her parents to let her marry him immediately. His father, he said, had wired him to cut short his vacation and return home at once. He wouldn't go with out her.

When Mrs. Everett finished reading it she looked at Irene with a light of childish excitement in her usually rapid blue eyes.

"What are you going to do?" she cried. Irene put up her arms and stretched lazily before she answered. Then, "I don't know," she said as though the matter were not really important.

A faint frown creased her mother's forehead. She was thinking of Beryl—of her older daughter's implied threat to make trouble between Irene and Prentiss.

"I think you ought to do as he says," she said solemnly. "His father's a big man."

Irene pouted. "I'm not going to have anyone arranging my affairs for me," she declared petulantly. "Especially an in-law."

"But honey," her mother went on, "you have to consider what's best all around."

"I do not," Irene denied. "A girl has a right to make the plans for her own wedding. And I was thinking of something more elegant than a hurried-up affair. His father can just wait. Prentiss is entitled to a vacation."

"Oh, really one of your tramps! I really don't see why mother allows you to sneak out of the house at all hours—"

"Didn't you know you were driving Tommy to desperation?" Beryl cried. "How could you sit there last night with Prentiss and hear him whistling for you?"

"So you were spying! What a sweet character to be censuring me!"

BERYL ignored the words and the insulting tone. "You're going to stop this nonsense with Prentiss

Her mother sighed. "He's had quite a nice one now, it seems to me," she said weakly. "You'll both get along much better if you don't start by turning his father against you."

THEY understood each other perfectly. There had been no mention of Irene's love for Prentiss. To neither of them was it necessary to the girl's happiness that she should love him. What Mrs. Everett really meant to say, and Irene knew it, was that Irene should take him while she had the chance, if she wanted him.

"I'll think it over," Irene promised with feigned indifference. Then she added as her mother moved to go. "Will you press my flowered bathrobe for me?"

"It's got an ink spot on it," her mother told her, "but I'll do up the little pink Swiss for you."

"Oh, that old thing," Irene said disgustedly. "I haven't a decent dress for morning wear!"

She had no intention of wearing the dress if coaxing Beryl could prevent it. When her mother had gone back downstairs she hastened to Beryl's room.

Irene entered with a sweet smile and a softly spoken, "How's your old grouch this morning?"

Beryl eyed her thoughtfully. "Sit down," she said shortly. "I want to talk with you."

Irene ceased to sip. She did not like Beryl's tone. "I haven't much time," she said doubtfully. "I just came in to see . . ."

"If you could borrow something," Beryl finished for her. "I guessed that much. Well, maybe you'll get it, but first you've got to hear what I have to say."

"Dear me! Do you have to look as though you've lost your best friend?" Irene complained.

"You'd be serious too for once in your life, perhaps, if you'd seen Tommy Wilson as I saw him this morning," Beryl snapped at her. "This morning?" Irene repeated. "Has he been here?"

"No."

"Haven't you any heart at all?" Irene whined, appearing to give in. "No."

"All right then, I'll tell him—for I know you would. You're that mean, but you needn't be so sure—" she paused, thinking it was just as well not to say to Beryl that she thought Prentiss would marry her in spite of any revelations concerning Tommy. Beryl would want to make certain that Prentiss was told all there was to tell. She might tell him herself, at once, in her own way.

At police headquarters, the officers said, the boys furnished, after much argument, a telephone number. They were released, police said, with the stipulation that one of them was to return Monday. THOUSANDS ASK FOR INFORMATION ON RENO DIVORCE

Law Printed in Pamphlet For Distribution Free

Reno, Nevada, June 3—(UP)—To those who seek relief from marital troubles, the word Reno has become known as the brightest spot on earth.

So many requests have come for information about the statutes of Nevada on domestic relations that E. H. Beemer, clerk of Washoe county, has just had the laws as amended by the 1931 legislature printed in pamphlet form.

Nine Grounds

According to this information there are nine grounds for divorce in Nevada. Among them are misconduct since marriage, remaining unforgiven; wilful desertion for a period of one year; conviction of a crime; habitual gross drunkenness which shall incapacitate either party from contributing his or her share to the support of the family; extreme cruelty, either mental or physical; neglect of husband for a period of one year to provide common necessities of life, and insanity existing for two years.

Divorce may be obtained in Reno if the plaintiff resided six weeks in the state before suit was filed.

When it appears to the court that both husband and wife have been guilty of a wrong or wrongs, the court for that reason will not deny a divorce, but in its discretion, may grant a divorce to the party least in fault.

May Seal Papers

It takes ten days to serve a summons in Nevada, if the defendant lives in the county where the action is brought; in the judicial district 20 days and in all other cases 30 days.

In any suit in this state for an annulment of marriage in anywise affected by the laws of another state, it is presumed that the law of the other state is the same as the law of this state, unless and until the law of the other state is alleged and proved. But this has rarely been done.

Divorce suits at Reno may be held behind closed doors and the papers sealed.

Monday "Wash Day"

The new law requiring only six weeks residence in the state went into effect on May 1st, 1931. Hundreds of cases since that date have passed through the divorce mill. Two district judges are kept busy in the Reno court house untangling matrimonial knots. About 50 cases are heard every Monday. These are default cases and the contested ones come on during the week.

Some are happy and some are sad as they are handed their decrees. Many go from the court room to the clerk's office to get a marriage license and are married the day they are divorced.

Far and away the smoothest Eight in its price class

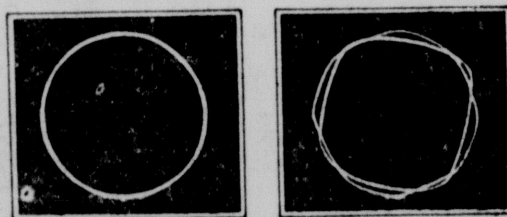

Scientific Torsiographic tests prove the "rounded" performance of The Dictator is unrivaled by any Eight in its price class

THE Dictator Eight has what engineers know as a "sweet" engine—an engine free from perceptible vibration periods. Linked with Free Wheeling, this vibrationless power results in motoring of new smoothness—new restfulness.

Motor roar is hushed by improved muffling, which conserves horsepower, and by carburetor silencing, introduced by Studebaker.

At no point in the whole sparkling speed range, is there a "rough spot" to mar The Dictator's "rounded" performance. The Dictator has a nine-bearing crankshaft, balanced not only statically, but dynamically. What remains of vibration is further minimized by a crankshaft vibration damper. Dual carburetion and manifold feeding equal amounts of fuel to each cylinder, avoiding the common fault of "starving" the end cylinders, and assuring even power impulses.

With Free Wheeling you enjoy relaxed motoring. Clutch-pushing is almost for-

"Rounded" Performance

The Torsiograph, one of the most nearly infallible of automotive laboratory instruments, records accurately the vibration of any rotating shaft. The closer the record chart approaches a true circle, the more nearly perfect the balance of the crankshaft. Above are shown the Torsiographic records of The Dictator Eight nine (9) bearing crankshaft and those of two other eights of double The Dictator's price. Notice the smooth roundness of The Dictator graph contrasted with the irregularity, or "humpiness" of the other two.

Daily Health Talk

MOUNTAIN VACATIONS

Whether one goes to new climes in search of health, or merely for the benefits of a vacation, whatever good it gained will be more from the "new" than from the clime.

Enthusiasts and resort pamphlets are in the habit of speaking of ideal climates. Science, however, knows of none.

To the man living in the flat prairie lands the mountain regions of the east or west coast might prove ideal. While the opposite is just as liable to prove true for the dweller in the mountain regions.

In vacation time the people who live in the mountains often take the train to the shore, and vice versa, just as on holidays country people rush into the city and city people into the country.

Henry Sewall, an authority on climatology, has written as follows: "A change of scene, irrespective of the character of the environment is often temporarily a mysterious influence for good on the living organism."

"The first vital reaction to new climatic conditions involve especially the nervous system; the final effects are dependent on the modified metabolism of the individual organs."

Mountain and sea shore have been the two widely separated regions commonly thought of as the extremes in vacation and health resort possibilities.

High regions have for centuries been regarded as especially beneficial for health. Many European health resorts and most modern sanatoriums are located on mountains.

What is there beneficial in mountain climate?

To begin with the air is more pure and there is less humidity in it; it is generally cooler, though not as cold in the winter time as it is at the lower levels.

The atmospheric pressure is less in the higher altitudes. This promotes more active and deeper breathing.

Higher altitudes also have a stimulating effect on the blood-producing organs, thus bringing about an increase in haemoglobin and red blood cells.

"Scotland Yard" In Chicago Is Planned

Chicago, June 3 —(UP)—Mayor Anton J. Cermak is to have an independent police force of his own to handle investigations for his office and serve Chicago as a Scotland Yard.

Chief of Police John Alcock has issued orders transferring nearly 160 Patrolmen, Sergeants and Lieutenants, from the Canal port Station to clear the way for the mayor's plan.

Canalport Station will be abandoned by the Police Department and turned over to the Mayor for the use of his new organization of investigators, who will be chosen from among the most capable detectives in the department.

Chief Alcock announced that Cermak had chosen William J. Schoemaker, former Chief of the Detective Bureau with a "two-fister" reputation, to head the "Scotland Yard" station. Schoemaker is expected to gather his staff of officers immediately.

Cermak will be directly in charge of the new Canalport detail, it was said, and it will work in cooperation with such organization's as the Association of Commerce "Secret Six" committee.
